Tools Required

- 3/32 allen key or T10 Torx depending on your grip screws

[TANDEMKROSS]

Step 1

Detach the upper from the lower according to your pistol's manual.

[TANDEMKROSS]

Step 2

Remove the left side grip panel

[TANDEMKROSS]

Step 3

Remove the factory bolt stop by lifting it up off of the boss for the top grip screw and the pulling the bolt stop towards the back of the pistol.

[TANDEMKROSS]

Step 4

The underside of the “Bolt Keeper” has a keyhole-shaped cutout. This will fit over the stud on the internal bolt stop (part numbers 9&10 in the owner's manual).

The ring on the back will slip around the boss for the top grip screw.

Step 5

Install the “Bolt Keeper” Extended
Bolt Stop for Ruger® Mark IV™
22/45™

[TANDEMKROSS]

Step 5

Install the left side grip panel

NOTE: Do not over tighten the grip screws. The threads in the lower can be damaged with too much torque.

Step 6

Reassemble and function check the pistol.

If the “Bolt Keeper” feels sluggish, check to make sure the top grip screw is not over tightened.

Rubberized grips can grab the metal and keep it from functioning smoothly if installed too tight.

The logo features the word "TANDEMKROSS" in a green, monospace-style font, enclosed in square brackets. The text is centered on a black horizontal bar with green and red diagonal stripes at the ends.
